Required Materials

- The Tortilla Curtain by T.C. Boyle: We will be reading this first, so buy it first.
- Pursuing Happiness by Parfitt and Skorczewski: Check the schedule; you do not need this right away.
- Memory stick: The campus computers frequently fail to connect to the internet and often crash. For your own sake, bring a memory stick with your current work to class every day. And keep a backup because students often leave their memory sticks behind.
- Canvas Access: Many of the other materials, including some required readings and videos, are posted on Canvas. There are computer labs with printers on campus if you do not have access at home.

Bring your materials to class every day.

Official Course Description

In this course, students will practice writing, revising, and proofreading essays. Students will learn to think critically and to logically develop and organize ideas. Students will use readings to enhance their writing skills and to learn how to integrate and document sources. This is an accelerated course that prepares students for ENGL 1A. This class is not intended for students who have taken English 252 or English 125.

Course Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Write multiple source-based essays of at least 1,200 words that includes:
 - o an introduction, multiple paragraphs, and conclusion
 - o an arguable thesis sentence
 - o supporting details that exhibit critical thinking and use secondary sources

 - o use of third person
 - o awareness of writing to specific audience
 - o an avoidance of intentional and unintentional plagiarism
2. Complete a timed essay independently in class
3. Analyze different ideas and information found in readings and incorporate them into writing

Schedule

The class schedule, including reading assignments and due dates, is posted on Canvas. We will review procedures for logging into Canvas during the first week of class. After that, it is your responsibility to visit Canvas to check the schedule. The schedule is subject to update.

Homework

Homework is due at the beginning of class on the dates indicated by the schedule and as assigned in class. Homework due to Canvas must be submitted before you come to class.

Your work must reflect college level effort or it will not receive credit. In other words, do not expect partial credit for work that does not answer the prompt or fails to meet the requirements of the assignments. For example, do not hand in one page of a four page assignment expecting to get partial credit.

Late Work

If you cannot attend class, get your work to me before the due date. Most work needs to be submitted on Canvas, but in the rare cases where I am asking you to submit paper, you may send it by email or by handing it in at the administration desk.

You will have ONE chance to hand in late work. It must be submitted within one week of the original due date. You can also arrange to make up in-class essays or tests within one week of the original due date. No work can be submitted after the day of the final, so you cannot use your one late assignment for the work due on the day of the final.

Attendance

If you are absent or tardy, it is your responsibility to find out what you have missed before returning to class. Information covered in class will not be posted on Canvas. You may email me or come by my office to get missed work. If you miss any classes during the first week, you will be dropped. If you miss 3 days before the end of add/drop, you can be dropped.

There are no excused absences.

Participation is mandatory. Come to class prepared and ready to participate.

Disruptive Behavior

Disrespectful or disruptive behavior will not be tolerated. Anyone who engages in such behavior will be reported to the college for disruptive behavior. Students who disrupt the learning environment may be dropped.

Cell Phones

Cell phones and text messaging are major distractions and hinder not only your ability to concentrate but the ability of those around you to concentrate. If you use your cell phone in class, I will ask you to leave the classroom. Continued use of the cell phone will cause you to be referred to the Office of Instruction for Disruptive Behavior.

Adding or dropping

It is your responsibility to complete all add/drop paperwork. I reserve the right to drop a student from the course at various points throughout the semester.

Plagiarism and Cheating

Students caught plagiarizing or cheating will receive a zero on the assignment and may be reported to the college for academic dishonesty. If you plagiarize on an essay assignment, you will not be allowed to revise for a better grade. Your class work will be submitted to Turnitin, which assists in evaluating the originality of the work.

Here are the college policies on academic dishonesty, cheating, and plagiarism:

Academic Dishonesty: Students at Reedley College are entitled to the best education that the college can make available to them, and they, their instructors, and their fellow students share the responsibility to ensure that this education is honestly attained. Because cheating, plagiarism, and collusion in dishonest activities erode the integrity of the college, each student is expected to exert an entirely honest effort in all academic endeavors. Academic dishonesty in any form is a very serious offense and will incur serious consequences.

Cheating: Cheating is the act or attempted act of taking an examination or performing an assigned, evaluated task in a fraudulent or deceptive manner, such as having improper access to answers, in an attempt to gain an unearned academic advantage. Cheating may include, but is not limited to, copying from another's work, supplying one's work to another, giving or receiving copies of examinations without an instructor's permission, using or displaying notes or devices inappropriate to the conditions of the examination, allowing someone other than the officially enrolled student to represent the student, or failing to disclose research results completely.

Plagiarism: Plagiarism is a specific form of cheating: the use of another's words or ideas without identifying them as such or giving credit to the source. Plagiarism may include, but is not limited to, failing to provide complete citations and references for all work that draws on the ideas, words, or work of others, failing to identify the contributors to work done in collaboration, submitting duplicate work to be evaluated in different courses without the knowledge and consent of the instructors involved, or failing to observe computer security systems and software copyrights. Incidents of cheating and plagiarism may result in any of a variety of sanctions and penalties, which may range from a failing grade on the particular examination, paper, project, or assignment in question to a failing grade in the course, at the discretion of the instructor and depending on the severity and frequency of the incidents.
