Description:

This course is a rigorous introduction to key ethical theories and their application to classic and contemporary moral problems through study of four primary texts: Plato's Republic, Aristotle's Nicomachean Ethics, Kant's Groundwork of the Metaphysics of Morals, and Mill's Utilitarianism. As an honors section, the class will be conducted as a seminar with an emphasis on student writing.

Required Texts:

Plato Republic Trans. Grube (Hackett)

Aristotle Nicomachean Ethics Trans. Irwin, 2nd ed. (Hackett)

Kant Grounding for the Metaphysics of Morals: with On a Supposed Right to Lie Because of Philanthropic Concerns Trans. Ellington, 3rd ed. (Hackett)

Mill Utilitarianism Ed. Sher, 2nd ed. (Hackett)

Singer Practical Ethic 3rd ed. (Cambridge)

Attendance: Students who have more than 6 unexcused absences during the semester will be dropped from the class. An absence will only be excused with documentation of a valid excuse. Instructor has final say as to what counts as a valid excuse, and what shall be accepted as appropriate documentation. Attendance will be taken at the very beginning of class. If you are not in your seat at the start of class you will be marked absent. It is the responsibility of the student to speak with the instructor after class if they are late to ensure that they are not marked absent for the day.

NOTE: The instructor does not guarantee that students will be dropped after having more than 6 unexcused absences. Hence, if you decide to drop this class it is your responsibility to actually drop the class. Failure to do so may result in a grade of 'F' for this course.

Coursework:

Reading Assignments: Students are expected to complete readings before class and come prepared to discuss the readings. The date the reading is listed on the syllabus is the date we will be discussing the material so you need to read the sections prior to the class period the readings are listed for. It is recommended that students read all material at least twice, taking notes or creating outlines of the reading from which they can study.

Participation: Students are expected to come to class regularly having reviewed the assigned material. Students may not work on anything from another class during class time, nor may they use electronic devices for any purpose other than those related to this course (except in case of emergency). Students may use laptops, cellphones, etc. for class related activities such as viewing electronic copies of the texts or taking notes. To earn participation points students must attend lecture regularly and participate in class discussions by asking questions or contributing comments. Some participation points can be earned by attending office hours, or by emailing your instructor with questions, although the bulk of your points must come from in-class participation. Merely showing up to lectures regularly will not be sufficient to earn full points for participation.

Reading Reports: Students will write two reading reports. Further Instructions will be provided separately.

Argumentative Paper: Students will write two main argumentative papers. Further instructions will be provided separately.

Paper Workshop Activities: As part of your paper writing process you will create detailed outlines for your argumentative papers. You will then present these outlines to a small group of students for feedback. As part of your paper you will be expected to respond to the feedback you receive. Further instructions will be provided separately.

Seating Chart: A seating chart will be created during the first week of class. Students must sit in their assigned seats. Students who wish to change their assigned seats must ask the instructor. This is so that your instructor can keep track of your participation and be aware of your attendance levels, but more importantly it is so she can start to learn your names!

Examinations: There will be two exams in this course (one midterm and one final). The final will be cumulative but will emphasize the material covered since the last exam. Anything in the readings or discussed in class is fair game for the exams. Points may be taken off of your exam if you come to the exam late or if your cell phone makes noise during the exam.

Behavioral Standards: Students are expected to do their best to be on time. Students should silence all cell phones before entering the classroom. CELL PHONE USE IN CLASS IS ONLY PERMITTED FOR CLASS RELATED ACTIVITIES AND EMERGENCIES. All students will treat each other with professional courtesy at all times. Students should participate regularly in class discussions and are expected to ask questions. Unless otherwise prompted, students should raise hands when they have questions or comments.

For classroom discussion, we will use the following procedure:

One finger up: You would like to respond to the current point or discussion (example: another student has just raised a question and you would like to respond to this question).

Hand up: You have a new question or comment that does not directly engage the current discussion.

Discussion with other students during class work is encouraged, provided the focus of the discussion is the work being completed. Please do not whisper amongst yourselves while the instructor is lecturing, or while a fellow classmate is addressing the class with a question or comment. This policy shall be strictly enforced because such behavior is disrespectful to your fellow classmates, and because whispering, no matter how softly, is distracting to others. If you have a question during lecture then please raise your hand! If you miss something that someone said, please raise your hand!

Late work/Absences:

Exams: Make-up exams will be granted on a case-by-case basis with proof of a valid excuse required. The instructor has final say as to what constitutes a valid excuse. If possible, students must discuss make-up exams with the instructor prior to the date of the exam. Failure to contact the instructor as soon as possible regarding missed exams may result in a score of 0 for the exam. Failure to provide documentation of a valid excuse may result in a score of 0 for the exam.

Late assignments: Late assignments will receive a 1/3 letter grade deduction per day (not per class day). All assignments are due at the beginning of class. A 10-minute grace period will be given to allow for parking and printer issues. After that the first 1/3 grade deduction begins and will continue until midnight on the following day. At that time, a second deduction of 1/3 grade will be incurred. Thereafter another 1/3 will be added at midnight every day. Exceptions will only be made with proof of a valid excuse (such as hospitalization), and are at the discretion of the instructor.

EMAIL TIME STAMP OPTION: Students may email their assignments for a timestamp if they are unable to make it on the day the assignment is due (same deadlines as above apply). This will get you a submission time stamp only, and all assignments must still be submitted to the instructor as paper copies within one week of the email, or the late clock restarts. If you use this option you must have a line at the top of the assignment that states that the assignment was emailed, and gives the date and time of the email. For example:

ASSIGNMENT SUBMITTED VIA EMAIL ON 1/1/18 at 12:01 am.

Failure to include this information may result in the student receiving the full late penalty.

NOTE: Some in class-activities depend upon timely completion of assignments related to the argumentative papers. Specifically, you will be required to present your paper outlines to a group for feedback, and will be required to provide feedback to your group members on their outlines. You will then need to respond to the feedback. As such, there may be points lost in addition to the late deductions if some assignments are not completed on time. Students will only be given the option to make up these points with proof of a valid excuse.

Where to find your grade: Grades will be available on Canvas. Assignment/exam scores will be posted to Canvas prior to them being returned to students. IT IS THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE STUDENT TO BRING ANY MISSING/WRONG SCORES TO THE ATTENTION OF THE INSTRUCTOR ASAP. All problems must be reported to the instructor within 24 hours of the final exam. After that scores will not be changed. Any student with a question about their current grade in the course should feel encouraged to contact the instructor. Participation scores will not be posted until after the final. If you have questions/concerns about your participation score please speak with your instructor.

Special Needs Requests:

If you have a verified need for an academic accommodation or materials in alternate media (i.e., Braille, large print, electronic text, etc.) per the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) or Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, please contact your instructor as soon as possible.

Academic Dishonesty:

Students at Reedley College are entitled to the best education that the college can make available to them, and they, their instructors, and their fellow students share the responsibility to ensure that this education is honestly attained. Because cheating, plagiarism, and collusion in dishonest activities erode the integrity of the college, each student is expected to exert an entirely honest effort in all academic endeavors. Academic dishonesty in any form is a very serious offense and will incur serious consequences.

Cheating is the act or attempted act of taking an examination or performing an assigned, evaluated task in a fraudulent or deceptive manner, such as having improper access to answers, in an attempt to gain an unearned academic advantage. Cheating may include, but is not limited to, copying from another's work, supplying one's work to another, giving or receiving copies of examinations without an instructor's permission, using or playing notes or devices inappropriate to the conditions of the examination, allowing someone other than the officially enrolled student to represent the student, or failing to disclose research results completely.

Plagiarism is a specific form of cheating: the use of another's words or ideas without identifying them as such or giving credit to the source. Plagiarism may include, but is not limited to, failing to provide complete citations and references for all work that draws on the ideas, words, or work of others, failing to identify the contributors to work done in collaboration, submitting duplicate work to be evaluated in different courses without the knowledge and consent of the instructors involved, or failing to observe computer security systems and software copyrights.

Incidents of cheating and plagiarism may result in any of a variety of sanctions and penalties, which may range from a failing grade on a particular examination, paper, project, or assignment in question to a failing grade in the course, at the discretion of the instructor and depending on the severity and frequency of the incidents.

Student Learning Outcomes:

Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Recognize, clarify, and critically evaluate classic arguments of moral philosophy;
2. Create and revise arguments on various moral issues;
3. Compare and contrast aretaic, deontological, and teleological approaches to various moral issues and pro familiarity with four primary historical texts in which those approaches were developed.

Objectives:

In the process of completing this course, students will:

1. Understand and distinguish among some of the major moral problems that have challenged and continue individuals and societies throughout history;
2. Understand and distinguish among some of the major moral philosophers' attempts at understanding and challenges by reading four major works of Western moral philosophy;
3. Develop reasoned responses to moral challenges.
