Notes: Pre-optometry is not an academic major. Pre-optometry students are free to elect any major, but many students choose a major that includes a great deal of overlap between courses required for the major and the School of Optometry's undergraduate requirements.

*BIOL 31 will change from 4 units to 5 units effective Spring 2009.

Applicants to UC Berkeley's School of Optometry must complete at least one year at a baccalaureate institution prior to entering the professional degree program. (A minimum of 90 semester units must be completed to apply to the professional degree program.)

The Optometry Admission Test is mandatory for all applicants. It is recommended that students take the OAT in October of their junior year.

UC Berkeley has restrictions regarding online classes. See the website listed below for information.
