Course Description

This course examines all major regions of the world, a study of the physical settings, populations patterns, natural resources, and economic and political status of the world's realms. Approach is by continents and/or cultural realms.

Course Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

- Describe the major geographic features of the world.
- Describe the major geopolitical and domestic issues of the regions of the world using an international perspective.
- Use a map to illustrate the geographic features of the world.

Course Objectives

In the process of completing this course, students will:

- Interpret a map of the major countries, cities, and physical features of the world's regions.
- Recognize and apply simple geographic terms and comprehend geographic principles.
- Compare and contrast the major regions of the world with respect to their relative locations, natural environments, peoples, resources, economies, and contemporary problems.
- Describe and analyze the relationships between cultures and the environment in creating landscapes and changing our environment.
- Identify factors that determine the cultural, economic, and political development of countries and regions.
